

Joan Griffin, 14 January 2017

Joan Griffin received her MFA in Textile Design from Antioch University and her BS in Art Education from SUNY College, Buffalo, New York. In addition, she was research assistant to Irene Emery, Curator Emerita, Textile Museum, Washington DC. Her work has been exhibited extensively across the United States, most recently in the 2016 Small Tapestry International, Natchitoches, Louisiana. Internationally, her work is currently on exhibit in the U.S. Embassy, Dili, East Timor.

She has been weaving for 30 years and is a full-time studio artist who divides her time between handweaving tapestries for exhibitions and for commissions. She is represented in private, corporate, and liturgical collections across the Mid-Atlantic region. She has taught at art centers, colleges, and high schools and teaches weekend workshops in her Charlottesville, Virginia, studio.